Announcement

¶ Judge F. W. Howay, of British Columbia, is counted one of the best informed men on Northwestern history. It is a pleasure to publish an article by him. He has written one of the principal book reviews in this number.

¶ William S. Lewis, corresponding secretary of the Spokane Historical Society, is keeping the readers of the Quarterly supplied with valuable materials from the interesting Spokane section.

¶ The Northwestern History Syllabus is brought to a conclusion in this issue. It was begun in the issue for April, 1912, and an installment has appeared in each subsequent issue.

¶ The present installment of the Ebey Diary will prove of particular interest to the families of all old settlers on Puget Sound.
